

Web Developer Web Developer Web Developer Atlanta, GA Work Experience Web Developer Emory University July 2015 to Present Responsible for Emory's School of Public Health website and web applications, such as designing, developing, maintenance, and support. Maintain the code and perform cross-browser testing and QA testing prior before posting to production environments. Work closely with the User Experience/User Interface designers to produce prototypes and ensure proper user interactive capabilities and best fit within the wireframe layouts Develop business architecture using requirements such as scope, process, alternatives, and risks. Create well written documentation for client information, functionality, manageability, and usability Responsible for Google Analytics Reporting, such as search engine optimization and site performance. Web Developer Emory University September 2016 to December 2016 Responsible for developing browser and responsive framework for the company's educational system Assisted the lead developers with evaluating code to ensure that it was properly structured and compliant to specified web standards as well as accessibility (Section 508 Accessibility) Responsible for developing code and programming tasks of the front-end to embedded web applications. Web Developer Bethune Cookman University December 2012 to December 2014 Responsible for the development and implementation of assigned projects and tasks in a timely fashion Evaluate code to ensure that it was properly structured, correct and met the university's standards and was compatible with browsers, devices or operating systems Identify functionality problems revealed through testing and corrected problems or provided additional information Education Bachelor of Science in Computer Information Systems Bethune Cookman University - Daytona Beach, FL

Name: Monica Ball

Email: xperry@example.org

Phone: 653-949-4780