Magento Developer
Decor Market
August 2015 to October 2015
This is my newly created business. Although I've developed the site from A to Z, I'm still very much so involved in managing it, alongside a few others who help deal with the customer service, vendor relations and inventory management. It was built with Magento CE 1.9.1.0. Domain: <http://decormarket.com>
Magento Developer
Safavieh
August 2012 to August 2015
My responsibilities revolved around maintaining and creating Magento Community Edition sites. This included developing & implementing new modules, upgrading existing sites to the newest version, implementing & tweaking (where necessary) third party modules, handling the newsletter by integrating MailChimp & creating HTML emails, managing the catalogs (and inventory) through custom importing scripts, Magmi and Photoshop scripting. I also debugged any store issues that arose. Domain: <http://safaviehome.com>
Front End Developer
January 2011 to June 2012
The Enchanted Home
I worked alongside a lead programmer. We first dealt with migrating the site from a self-hosted platform to WordPress + Woo-commerce. I primarily used CSS/JS/Photoshop to help re-design the site/store/admin area and assisted the lead programmer in plug-in development.

Additional Information
I believe I'm the right candidate because I have 5 years of experience as both a programmer & front end developer, and I truly know what it takes to be both at the professional level. I don't expect to work 8 hour days and then go home to do something else. I view the web as not just a job but as a way of life. I love learning new technologies & staying on top of those that I'm proficient with. It's my enthusiasm & motivation for web development (particularly on the front end right now) that makes me believe I'm a good fit for any company. I'm currently looking for a role as a front end developer.
