

Python Developer Python Developer Python Developer - BlueVine Sunnyvale, CA Work Experience
Python Developer BlueVine - Redwood City, CA October 2018 to Present - Develop clean, reusable APIs for Django applications - Collaborate with front-end developers to see projects through from development to production - Communicate with the team in an agile development environment to ensure that goals are being met - Implement the security and data protections required for customer data - Refactor old code to incorporate the best, newest technologies available - Work closely with the international engineering team on both internal and external facing tools and applications to create high quality code Project Manager MHK - Naples, FL May 2015 to May 2018 - Evaluated the scope of a project to set deadlines and create a plan with external consultants to meet them - Developed AutoCAD drawings from remodel to new construction for private homes and large-scale development projects - Created a library for projects under special jurisdiction that reduced time spent on future projects at the firm - Coordinated cross-functional collaboration to develop high quality products for government approval - Communicated with the client regularly to receive input on the design and inform them of the project status Education Software Engineering Fellowship Hackbright Academy - Santa Clara, CA June 2018 to August 2018 Software Engineering Florida Gulf Coast University - Fort Myers, FL August 2017 to May 2018 AS in Aerospace Engineering University of Florida - Gainesville, FL June 2012 to January 2014 Skills Ajax (1 year), Autocad (3 years), Bootstrap (1 year), Database (1 year), Eclipse (2 years), Python (2 years), Flask, Javascript (2 years), AWS (1 year), Django (1 year), Java (2 years), Restful, Web Development (1 year), Data Analysis (2 years), Linux, Kali Linux, Backend Engineering (1 year), Git, SQL (2 years)

Name: John Luna

Email: stephanie26@example.net

Phone: 948-817-5444