 Work Experience Founder, President, CEO Eboro - Seattle, WA April 2018 to Present Launched this startup to address pain points in the clean energy market. Also providing IT consulting services and technical services for local area businesses. Full stack software development w/ ASP.NET MVC. My role here is best summarized as 'wearer of all hats'. Competed in US DOE American Made Solar Prize Competition Applied for WA state Clean Energy Fund III grant, made it to second round of applications Sr. Software Developer Mesa Mundi - Sharon, MA April 2014 to August 2015 Recruited to develop business strategy, responsibilities ranged widely over the scope of business activities. Reported directly to CEO, major efforts included working to consolidate product lines to better fit organizational capabilities and resource constraints. Developed roadmap for major rewrite of a core product using a modern engine. Implemented, this would have significantly improved the development team's productivity. Sr. Software Developer Tech USA - Kennedy Space Center, FL February 2013 to February 2014 Recruited by Tech USA, a staffing firm, for Abacus Technology, which held the IMCS contract at Kennedy Space Center. Developed and maintained, as a contractor on that project, software applications in support of various Center teams. Advised Abacus leadership, as only non-employee member of Abacus Technology's Technology Steering Committee. Specific technology recommendations were adopted for use in all new projects. Developed solution as part of agile team that won a "Best of 2013" award from Kennedy Space Center. Developed and implemented plan for limited modernization of mission-critical system, which involved coordinating work with the Air Force and several departments around the center * Indicates this was a startup company. Technology Management MBA Innovation Strategy Analysis Approached after departure by Abacus to explore possibility of launching a contracting firm to partner with Abacus on future contract awards. Discussions came to a halt as the funding climate at NASA deteriorated. Computer Programmer III Nakuuruq Solutions - Panama City Beach, FL August 2012 to February 2013 Provided IT support at a Naval Surface Warfare Center in Panama City Beach as member of a team modernizing the intranet. Developed modern replacements for legacy web applications. Managed team conflict which would arise as responsibilities and roles shifted for some of the long-term staff. Resolved through mutual buy-in and investment in the project as a "win" for everyone involved. US Army, Active Duty and Reserves July 2011 to October 2012 CEO / Co-Founder Beachhead Engineering - Orlando, FL January 2011 to February 2012 Co-founded this startup with Army colleague, intending to develop an IT consulting business in Orlando while pursuing MBA at University of Central Florida. Various issues led to dissolution of the partnership within months. Tested the wisdom of advice such as "Don't go into business with friends" with practical field exercises. NCO December 2005 to December 2010 Primary duties included conducting SIGINT missions in CONUS and deployed environments, both at the strategic and tactical level; preparing target packages and intelligence summaries based on SIGINT/GMA and national asset databases. Was frequently cited for using technical background and capabilities to create novel solutions to enhance mission performance. Service concluded with an Honorable Discharge. Directly contributed to actionable intelligence in support of OIF/OEF. Produced intelligence reports and near real-time analysis supporting ground troops. Maintained mission-critical systems and developed custom programming to enhance system performance. Developed customized test system to isolate the cause of operational errors, which resulted the system gaining a significant increase in performance. Provided training and mentoring to peers and junior soldiers in systems, tasks, and technologies. Prepared training material for use by peers, juniors, and supervisors. During deployment was cited by both commanders, soldiers, and civilian consultants for efforts providing assistance beyond the team, directly enhancing the productivity of the entire unit. Business Intelligence Analyst California Pizza Kitchen - Los Angeles, CA April 2005 to December 2005 Hired during rapid organizational growth, as CPK was seeking IT solutions that would enable it to scale effectively. Worked closely with consultants to manage growth and complex systems integrations. Pushed for data warehousing implementation which resulted in decreased report run times from hours to minutes. Planned and implemented high-availability architecture for mission-critical databases.
