Website Design Teacher / Instructor Harrisburg Area Community College - Harrisburg, PA January 2006 to June 2006 I had the opportunity to teach Sr Graphic Design students Website Design and Animation. Being only 24, at the time, I knew I wanted to experience teaching so I jumped at the opportunity when the Art Department Director contacted me. The excitement grew as the class was essentially a blank canvas with a topic for me to master. I had freedom of writing my own curriculum for the course, schedule to follow, set specific learning points, wrote my own lesson plans, assignments, and projects, which included providing my own materials to use to assemble particular hands-on projects. This was my first team I led, in fact, they thought me how to lead. They helped me understand how it s important it is to slowdown, take my time explain things, and stay on track so everyone as a team can follow. Also, I left there with greater understanding on how to properly communicate Website Design when working with Designers of other types of mediums. Whether it be an Interior or Graphic Designer or a architect laying out their own webpage mock-up, I can review and communicate with them any areas of concern or things to keep in mind in the mock-up that may not translate to a website very well, why and any examples or suggestions.   I am proud to say they continued to use the curriculum and material I had created after my departure. I had decided to stick with focusing on my full-time position with the firm.
